DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 45 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on March 28, 2005.
2. The withdrawal of claim 45 is inadvertent omitted. Claim 45 is dependent from withdrawn claim 43.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 6, 7, 31, 32, 34, 36, 37, and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wiederseim, U. S. Patent 956,916 in view of Engelhardt, U. S. Patent 4,681,253.
3. With respect to claims 1, 4, 6, 7, 31, 34, and 36, Wiederseim teaches a display comprising a one-piece folder construction having a first side panel (2) and a back section (1), wherein the first panel is foldable over the back section and has slot 8 that engages the tab 9 of back section. The first panel (2) having a viewing section comprising a die- cut window (3). When the back section is engaged with the first side panel the back section has a curvilinear design. Wiederseim does not teach the display having a plastic sheet over the die cut window.

4. Engelhardt teaches a foldable display having a front or first panel having a window 17 covered with a plastic transparent sheet 18. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the window of the display taught by Wiederseim covered with a plastic sheet as taught by Engelhardt to provide a means to protect the interior of the display.

5. With respect to claims 2 and 32, Wiederseim teaches the back section containing an image. See figure 7.

6. With respect to claims 7 and 37, since the applicant is not positively claiming the three dimensional artwork, the claim is obvious over Wiederseim in view of Engelhardt. (Originally presented) The presentation apparatus of Claim 1 wherein the side panel has a viewing section comprising a die-cut window containing an acetate or plastic sheet for viewing the back section. (Originally presented) The presentation apparatus of Claim 1 wherein the side panel is folded over the back section and engages the back section for display purposes. (Originally presented)

The presentation apparatus of Claim 6 wherein the side panel folded over the back section provides for three-dimensional artwork.

7. Claims 9, 11, 38, and 40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wiederseim in view of Engelhardt as applied to claims 5, 1, 35, and 31, respectively above, and further in view of Murrell, U. S. Patent 4,237,633. Murrell teaches a foldable display having a front panel with a die cut window 48 covered by sheet 50. Murrell also teaches "serrations 52, 54, 56 respectively define rectangular break away or removable segments 58, 60, 62 which bound or border three sides of opening 48. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time this invention was made to construct the display taught by Wiederseim and Engelhardt with removable section about the window as taught by Murrell to provide a means to selectively choose the size of the display window.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 3, 5, 33, 35 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

9. Applicant's arguments filed November 4, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

10. The applicant argues that Weiderseim teaches the front leaf portion must be aligned with the back leaf portion in order to have order and conformity in the view of the display, whereas the present invention does not require movement on one leaf in order to align the view. In addition, the applicant argues Weiderseim does not teach artwork or image on the acetate sheet or plastic. Further, the applicant argues that Engelhardt teaches a mailer wherein the plastic sheet covers a front opening and an intermediate wall. The applicant points out the back wall is not part of the view through the window in the front wall because it is obstructed by the middle or intermediate wall.

11. The examiner contends the claimed invention does not preclude one or more of the leaves being movable. In addition, claims 1 and 31 do not recite artwork on the plastic sheet. The examiner also contends Engelhardt is cited to show having a transparent cover over the opening or window of the front sheet to provide protection of the image.

12. The rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

13. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

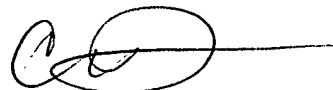

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
